Education of Italian Elites

The education of Italian elites in the contemporary age is still far from a definite historiographical specific subject and overall focus is still under development. We have instead of a state of significant studies to other comparable domestic cases, such as the French one. This book aims to present some case studies that can offer materials for the construction of a history of the formation of the different Italian elites in time (from the early nineteenth century until 1945) and in space (Sicily, Pisa e Trieste).

Contributions by Tamara Colacicco, Andrea Dessardo, Daria Gabusi, Angelo Gaudio, Andrea Mariuzzo, Caterina Sindoni.

Angelo Gaudio, full Professor of History of education at DILL, University of Udine, he teaches History of italian schol at undergraduate level and History of pedagogy at graduate level. Ph. D. in History, Pisa. Author of studies on the history of italian education in nineteenth and twentieth centuries and about comparative education. He is member of the CIRSE, SISSCO, SIPED, ISCHE, ASMI. Board of direction "Annali di storia dell'educazione e delle istituzioni scolastiche".
